

Maria Eugenia Cohen was born in Managua, Nicaragua. She graduated with a bachelor's degree in Business Administration. Eugenia worked as an Analyst of Organization and Methods at the Bank of America in Nicaragua.

As the big dreamer that she has always been, she decided to leave her home country to find new opportunities in the United States. After overcoming many challenges; learning a new language, cultural differences, financial obstacles, etc. she found a great job working in the mortgage industry.

Initially Eugenia was an independent contractor doing Due Diligence Projects. When she met Larry she was working for Chase Manhattan Bank as a Senior Mortgage Underwriter. She and Larry dated for one year and were married in 1999.

Maria Eugenia now had to learn another language, bridge. She has been Larry's biggest cheerleader, always listening intently as he lectures. Eugenia accompanies Larry to all of his seminars and cruises.

Eugenia loves people and enjoys conversing with his students. Together the two of them are a good team for Bridge with Larry Cohen.
