Larry's Article: How to Appear Professional, Even if You Aren't

For any golf fans reading, I wanted to call this article, "spot the hacker." That should give you a clue as to the path I am heading down.

Larry's Articles: 5NT Pick-a-Slam

This method grows in popularity every year. It has pretty much made the Grand Slam Force obsolete. (It used to be that 5NT asked partner to bid a grand slam with 2 of the top 3 honors, but in the days of RKC, that method is no longer needed).

Bidding With Larry! Hand #1122

In this problem, you have a big hand with several chances to get a good score. Do you look to make a trap pass? If not, will you jump to game or try some other path?

NEW WEBINAR!

The ACBL Bridge Bulletin Magazine has a monthly column in which two pros bid 8 sets of hands. In co-operation with the ACBL, Larry and Marty are doing the same only you can participate LIVE! You'll be able to listen and have the opportunity to ask questions as they go through their extensive reasoning and evaluation of the hands. This month Marty and Larry will give you basic ways to bid the hands and, many times, slightly more advanced ways to bid, possibly including: Exclusion Blackwood, Splinter Bids, lebensohl, Drury, etc.

As always, the first two hands are free. Just click the link below.

NEW SERIES!

During the next several weeks, I will take you into the world of defense and show many of the things that you need to think about. If you review the class notes after the Zoom session, you will have many of the tools needed to be a good defender. Easy? No. But it can be done when you learn how to sort out the information available and how to use it. I can and hope to be able to do many more sessions on defense.

Includes lesson notes and a recorded copy of the webinar sent soon after the LIVE event.
